Program Review - Overall Report

Instructional: Library

Data Review

2021 - 2024

Overall Trends

What overall trends do you see in success, retention, program of study, educational planning, and awards over the past 3 or more years?
We currently only offer one Library course (LIB 1).

Overall, in the past three years, the success and retention of students who completed the Library 1 course has decreased:

- 82.9% to 74.6% in success

- 92.7% to 84.3% in retention

However, in the past three years, the success and retention rates of students in online sections of Library 1 have remained about the same:

- 82.3% to 83.5% in success

- 91.1% to 90.4% in retention

Due to decreases in success & retention, overall, students in the Library 1 course have stayed about the same in their rate of receiving less than passing (DF) grades during this time.
(There is no data for program of study, SEP, or program awards because the library does not currently offer an instructional library program.)

Disaggregated Student Subgroups

Look at the disaggregated student subgroups in success, retention, program of study, educational planning, and awards for your area. Are there any equity gaps that you will address in the next 3 years?
In the next three years, the Library will address equity gaps in the following student subgroups:

- Hispanic females are showing gaps in success that are concerning

- African American males are showing gaps in retention that are concerning

If there are any concerning trends over the past 3 or more years, or if equity gaps exist, what is your action plan to address them?
The Norco College Library has developed the folllowing action plan to address equity gaps:

- The library will strive to ensure that the library's information literacy instruction, including Library 1, is offered through a lens of equity and inclusion (see resource request related to Instructional Design Librarian).

Data Review

- Library faculty will discuss best practices gleaned from attending DEI, anti-racism trainings, and CORA courses in Racial Microaggressions, Unconscoius Bias, Black Minds Matter, and Teaching Men of Color in the Community College.

- Librarians will implement equity-based instructional strategies for the Library 1 course by conducting equity audits of syllabi and assignments, providing liquid syllabi prior to the start of the course, and offering targeted suppport and intervention to Hispanic and African American students.

- The libary will seek to address equity gaps in electronic database offerings and integrate diverse perspectives and resources into Library 1 assignments (see resource requests related to Budget Augmentation for Library Databases and Databases to Support Equity).

- The library will develop additional equity-focused research guides like the Black Lives Matter, LGBTQIA+, and Asian Pacific Islander LibGuides.

- A full-time library faculty member will participate in shared governance meetings for the DEI Committee and other equity-focused workgroups and task forces.

- Library faculty will continue to participate in trainings that support equity, diversity, and inclusion.

2021 - 2024

Section 1: SLO Assessment Status (Based on Dashboard - Assessment Status)

Which Disciplines are included in this Assessment?
Library
What percent of SLOs in the disciplines you identified above have been assessed?
100%
Which SLOs have not been assessed and why? Identify both the Course and the associated SLO(s).

The four SLOs are aligned with the RCCD General Education Outcomes and the Association for College and Research Libraries (ARCL) Information Literacy Framework. The library is in the process of assessing these SLOs for the first time during the Spring 2023 semester. The library Service Area Outcomes (SAO's) relate to four service areas: 1. Research, 2. Resources, 3. Space, and 4. Events. The library has assessed SAO 4 and is in the process of assessing the remaining three SAOs using the same library survey that will be administered in Spring 2023.

Resource Requests

2023 - 2024 Update

Resource Request

What resources do we already have?
The library currently has a big screen monitor on a television cart on loan from TSS that the librarians connect to a laptop during library tours and information literacy sessions in the library. The cart is bulky, difficult to position, and hard to store. Moreover, the display is difficult for students to see and for faculty to use as they must use a traditional mouse to demonstrate how to search the library catalog and databases online.

What resources do you need?
In the absence of a library instruction classroom with integrated technology, the library would like to request a portable interactive display that can be easily moved and stored when not in use. The interactive display will allow the faculty members to interact with the screen directly instead of using an external mouse. Furthermore, the screen would be easier to position for students to see and would facilitate library instruction. The request is for a Newline interactive display TT-8622Z, an onboard computer, and a height-adjustable cart with a 6-year warranty.

Please summarize how this request supports one or more EMP Goals, Equity goals, your program plans or goals, and/or is supported by outcomes assessment data.
Unlike many college libraries, the Wilfred J. Airey library does not have a dedicated or even shared library instruction classroom. As a result, library tours and orientations must be given in the open within the library space. Since the return to campus, the library has received numerous requests for library tours and workshops. Providing more functional instructional equipment to support library faculty in providing library instruction will facilitate information literacy as a General Education Learning Outcome and will contribute to library SLO #2, "Students will use technology tools and systems to access and locate relevant information sources." This request is aligned with EMP Goal 2 (Success) as information literacy instruction provides foundational skills related to critical thinking and research that benefit students in a variety of courses and programs across the curriculum. This request also relates to EMP Goal 11 (Operations) as the new equipment would replace outdated and inefficient technology.

Resource Request

What resources do we already have?
The library currently has an all-in-one computer at the reference desk. Several work orders have been submitted to troubleshoot problems and TSS has indicated that it is due for replacement. The computer takes a considerable amount of time to reboot and has to be rebooted regularly when it freezes. The computer is used to assist students with finding materials using the library's systems AND is used by librarians for tasks related to their job duties including managing the Library Services Platform, ordering books, editing the library website, creating graphics/flyers, accessing/entering data, and creating reports/presentations. In addition, the current computer is not configured to allow remote desktop, so librarians must transfer files they are working on from their desktop computers to a portable drive or cloud storage before every shift to be able to access their documents.

What resources do you need?
The library reference desk needs a new desktop computer with adequate storage and memory to run the latest version of Windows and all library applications. The computer also needs to allow for remote desktop, so that the librarians can access their office computers while they are on the desk. TSS has provided a quote for a Lenovo ThinkStation P360 - tower - Core i9 12900K 3.2 GHz - 32 GB - SSD 1.0

The request for a new reference desk computer is aligned with EMP Goal 11 (Operations) as it will provide functional and efficient technology for librarians to be able to serve students in a timely manner.

Students often are limited in time and stop by the library for help on their way to class. The current delay in assisting students is problematic and at times results in library faculty being unable to assist students who

What resources do we already have?
The library currently does not have any portable interactive displays for students to use for group work/study in the main library outside of the study rooms. The library has two outdated collaboration stations that are no longer functional as the cables and connected monitor are obsolete.
What resources do you need?
The library is requesting a portable interactive display that can be easily moved and used by students for collaboration in the main section of the library when all study rooms are full. Study rooms are in high demand, especially mid-semester and near finals. The collaboration stations are not functional and cannot be used by students to study/work as a group. Program Review: Part 1

Resource Requests

Please summarize how this request supports one or more EMP Goals, Equity goals, your program plans or goals, and/or is supported by outcomes assessment data.

This request aligns with EMP Goal 2 (Success) as it would support students in their ability to collaboratively work on assignments and study for exams. Study rooms are extremely popular with students many of whom take advantage of the technology in the room to project their computer and draw on the screen using a smart pen that they check out at the library circulation desk. Many times during the semester, all study rooms are checked out, especially during peak times. Outside of the study rooms students have limited technology tools available to them to collaborate on their computer as the collaboration stations that the library inherited are outdated and no longer provide connectivity. This request is also aligned with the Library's Service Area Outcome (SAO) 3: "Students who use library physical spaces will report that the environment and facilities are welcoming, and support both collaborative and independent research and learning."

Resource Request

What resources do we already have?
The library currently has one entry-level flatbed scanner, an HP ScanJet G4010 (manufactured in 2007), for students to use in the library to scan documents and textbooks on reserve.
What resources do you need?
The library would like to purchase a professional Bookeye scanner for student use in the public area. The scanner would include a book cradle and kiosk configuration that would allow students to scan and output the file for printing or email. As more classes return to in-person format, instructors are requesting that the textbooks return from semester-long checkout to a more limited check out period, including "library use only." This scanner would allow students to quickly and easily digitize the textbook content they need.

Resource Request

What resources do we already have?
The library currently subscribes to four database subscriptions initiated during the pandemic in response to requests by faculty for additional electronic resources to support online instruction. These databases include JoVE (animated concept videos and live video lab demonstrations; cost = $15,000), Research Companion (learning modules for conducting scholarly research; cost = $2,254), APA PsycInfo (behavioral and social science research; cost = $4,048), Films on Demand Master Academic Collection (full educational videos and clips; cost = $8,763), and Feature Films for Education (feature films used for instructional purposes; cost = $5,055). These databases were supported with limited one-time CARES Act and HEERF funding in 2019/2020 and 2020/2021.
What resources do you need?
Permanent operational budget augmentation for 2022-2023 to provide ongoing support for JoVE, Research Companion, APA PsycInfo, Films on Demand Master Academic Collection, and Feature Films for Education database subscriptions, which are currently used by faculty for instructional purposes.

The library would like to add a subscription to the ProQuest Black Studies database, which provides comprehensive information from both primary sources and secondary sources including newspapers, videos, literature, and journals through the lens of black history and culture in the U.S. This database would support ethnic studies programs as well as curriculum across the College.

Resource Request

What resources do we already have?
The library currently has print serial collections of literature sources and criticism that have not been updated in several years. These resources include Contemporary Literary Criticism Online, Drama Criticism, Poetry Criticism, Short Story Criticism, and Twentieth-Century Literary Criticism. In addition to being out of date, the print editions are difficult for students to use for research purposes due to the way the content is organized and indexed. These print resources are now available in a more comprehensive, accessible, and discoverable digital form.

What resources do you need?
The library would like to add a subscription to Gale Research Complete, which would contain all of the content in the library's current Gale literary criticism print series, plus additional literature resources including information about the lives and works of major writers. A subscription to this database would bring all of the print series title up-to-date and would provide more comprehensive resources for students taking English courses. In addition, Gale Research Complete contains content to support academic research in other disciplines, specifically business and health and wellness. Since the information is in digital form and searchable online, it is much more accessible and easier to use.

What resources do you need?
The library would like to add a subscription to Academic Video Online (AVON), which would provide faculty with access to popular video titles that are commonly used for instructional purposes. Content exclusive to this database includes titles from PBS, 60 Minutes, and the BBC (Shakespeare). AVON videos would support a number of disciplines and courses across the College. In addition, this database would allow us to request titles that the vendor will add to the collection free of charge. Moreover, the subscription costs would provide for the ownership of perpetual rights for video titles the college would then own going forward. The use of media in online and hybrid courses has increased significantly due to the increased migration of instructional content online, and an additional media subscription would allow the library to meet the requests of instructional faculty for videos.

Resource Request

What resources do we already have?
The library currently has two full-time library faculty and four part-time librarians that serve the College with 7,976.93 total student FTES (2019-2020, CCCCO Datamart FTES Summary Report).

What resources do you need?
The library needs a new full-time faculty position in the form of an Instructional Design Librarian, who will support the library's information literacy initiatives through a lens of equity and inclusion. Title 5 of the California Code of Regulations (§ 58724) contains minimum standards for numbers of library faculty based on student FTES. According to that formula a college with an FTES of 8,000 FTES should have 5.5 full-time librarians. In addition to falling below the Title 5 staffing standards, systemic changes at the state and local level have resulted in additional responsibilities for the library faculty. These changes include the adoption of a statewide Library Services Platform managed locally at the College, the implementation of Guided Pathways, and the increase in Open Educational Resources (OER) adoption and use. Moreover, the College's transition to online only instruction due to COVID-19 led to the expansion of the library's electronic collections and online reference services via chat, which will need to be sustained when the College reopens in Fall Semester 2021. The Instructional Design Librarian will support the library's efforts in the area of information literacy instruction, Open Educational Resources (OER), embedded librarianship, and technology-mediated instruction through Canvas, ConferZoom, and other technology tools.

Resource Request

What resources do we already have?
Prior to the closure of the library due to COVID-19, students were required to physically come into the library building to check out books and other resources during normal operating hours. During the pandemic, the library provided students with the opportunity to request available resources online which they could pickup on a designated day at a designated time.

What resources do you need?
The library is requesting contact-less, automated library lockers that increase access to library resources for students who cannot come to the library during normal hours due to work, family, or transportation challenges. Library lockers would provide 24/7 access to materials, allowing students to pick up physical materials they have requested using the library catalog, OneSearch. Providing flexible access to library resources would allow the library to address inequitable access as studies have shown that students of color are more likely to attend college part-time, work transitory jobs or late shifts, have financial dependents, and experience stressful life events and transportation challenges (Harris & Wood, CORA Teaching Men of Color in the Community College). This request may be supported through HEERF funding.

Currently library patrons must wait in line at the circulation desk to speak with a library staff member to checkout materials.

What resources do you need?
The library would like to purchase mobile checkout software and a contact-less, self-service kiosk that would allow students to skip the lines and checkout materials and pay fines using either the self-service station or their phone. These resources would allow the library to improve accessibility and customer service by reducing wait times and providing convenience to students, especially those who have limited time.
