"STEM GUEST SPEAKER SERIES/WORKSHOPS" FEATURING:

Loma Linda University Orthotics & Prosthetics Department/Norco College Service Learning Project

Loma Linda University Orthotics & Prosthetics Department and Norco College have collaborated together to create a prosthetic hand through a Service Learning Project. This project is in it's third year and this is the best device they have created thus far!

Meet this year's team and learn about the process, design, construction and collaboration between Loma Linda University's graduate students and our Norco College STEM students working together with the mentorship of faculty from both institutions.
